INNOVET ALBANIA BULLETIN

Let's contribute to a stronger Education and Vocational Training community!

Dear reader,

We are pleased to open this 15th and last newsletter for 2023 with an article by Silva Sufali, a teacher at the 9-year cycle Pajovë School in the city of Peqin. Below you will read the article prepared by Silva, who expressed her thoughts and introduced us to her experience.

Hello dear readers, my name is Silva Sufali Cani. Born and raised in a small town, but with a big history, on 10.06.1987, Peqin.

I completed my initial studies in my hometown to continue further in one of the best universities in the country, known as "Aleksandër Xhuvani" Elbasan University.

To the many passions and activism in society and social life, in-depth studies in the branch of Mathematics were added, attending all educational levels and graduating in the Master of Science in "Applied Mathematics".

During my work as a teacher in several schools in the district, I have noticed that the love and civic responsibility stands out and brings commitment to move the generations forward and to give them the example of a free man with high integrity and boundless love for his country. Some key moments that have made a big turn in the individual citizen report is the participation in the 35th European School conference, for virtual laboratories on the Go-Lab platform. This knowledge has been evaluated and introduced as a separate part in the school curriculum of scientific subjects for Pre-University Education.

Throughout the year 2023, being part of the Peqin Municipality Local Coordinator in the Rin'Akt Project in cooperation with Albanian Skills has been of particular importance for my activations.

Part of this project was the Rin'Akt Academy, which was implemented over three days in the city of Peqin, where our collaborators made its stages more beautiful and attractive.

The visit to the fortress of Shkodra, as well as the exchange with the youth of Kurbini, gave an opportunity for cooperation, reconciliation of ideas, connection of communication bridges for other initiatives that will follow in the future. The engagement of young people and the participation of the citizens of Peqin in the awareness march and the demands in terms of infrastructure, made it possible for these young people to successfully carry out their initiatives. This project trained the youth of Peqin Municipality and provided them with in-depth knowledge regarding civic engagement, democratic movements and raising their voice in different ways.

For me, as a teacher of many years and part of civil society, such projects are of great value, as they help young people to be more active and responsible for the actions they undertake in their daily lives. After the realization of this project, the young participants feel more motivated and have more information and knowledge.

RIN'AKT CHALLENGES MEETING - YOUTH EXCHANGE BETWEEN THE YOUTH OF KURBIN AND PEQIN MUNICIPALITIES

The RIN'AKT project presents a motivation plot for a new group of young people to create a future of personal growth and well-being. Through innovative ideas and concrete objectives, they aim to create an impact, thus giving positives to the environment. The young people active in this project are from two different cities: Kurbin and Peqin. These young people started their journey on August 2023, where they first underwent three-day training in their city. During the period August-October 2023, the working groups, worked for the realization of possible initiatives, realizing different work plans and concrete steps. On October 29, 2023, during a Youth Exchange in Shkodër, the youth of both cities worked together with the "Arka" Youth Center to finalize their draft plans regarding the initiatives and drew up the plan of charges to implement them on the following days. This meeting also served for joint sharing, further consultation and consolidation of the bases for the continuation of activities.

This day started with a visit to the fortress of Shkodra and continued with an intensive group work. From 10:00 to 13:30, an initial meeting was held, dedicated to the planning of the work activities, and then the participants were grouped by cities to work on their initiatives.

The two initiatives with which the young people of Kurbin worked with dedication on, are the improvement of road signals, with the aim of increasing road safety and preventing bullying in schools and other environments.

Meanwhile, the Peqin group worked on initiatives related to anti-deforestation awareness in the Pine Forest of Peqin, keeping the city's common public areas clean, undertaking a speech in front of the City Hall and marching to the forest to raise awareness. and gain support from as many citizens as possible.

The strength of this project lies in solidarity. This project also aims to facilitate the coming together of young people from different cities, to create a more pleasant environment for socialization, which can create the opportunity to help each other in the projects they intend to carry out in a near future.

RIN'AKT contributed to a stronger, sustainable and inclusive community. This experience is not only shaping the future of these young people, but is also contributing to the vitality and growth of the cities of Kurbin and Peqin. It stands as a beacon of hope and inspiration for the residents of these small communities, illustrating that positive change starts little by little.

ACTIVITIES OF THE INTERVET WB PROJECT

Since December 2019, the "Internationalisation of VET Systems in Western Balkans - INTERVET WB" project, funded by the EU, has introduced the culture of mobility for learning in the education and vocational training systems of the participating countries of the Western Balkans, developing in them models and procedures that allowed the organization of employment abroad, through the organization of one- and three-month professional practices and learning on the job, for more than 400 students and training for 200 teachers and leaders of professional educational institutions.

INTERVET WB has been a project that has left its mark on Albanian professional education in terms of student mobility. Unfortunately, this was the last year of the project, but it paved the way for Mobility of students and teachers of vocational education in Albania for mobilities in Western countries.

In our country, throughout the entire implementation of the project, about 100 vocational school students and participants in various programs have gained the opportunity to do a 1-month or 3-month internship, such as: Shadow Work, Summer Schools, Teachers' Week around 21 teacher.

Albania has been one of the countries in the Western Balkans with a high number of applications and interest from students and teachers. This project was a real success for everyone, a success which could not have been achieved without the support of the National Employment and Skills Agency, all the vocational school leaders, the students and teachers whom applied and their families. A long journey full of various challenges, but when the work is done with love, the result is always successful.

Albanian Skills held the final event of the project on September 22, 2023, near the premises of Europe House with the participation of representatives from the National Agency for Employment and Skills, teachers and students participating in the project, under the moderation of Edlira Birko from RTSH Television.

It was emotional to see all these actors, contributors, supporters and project participants in one hall. During this event, it was talked about the experience that teachers, students and other participating institutions have had during the implementation of this project.

The 4-year journey of the project was concluded at the final conference in Brussels. The conference started with a compelling introduction to the INTERVET WB project, its results, and future developments of VET systems. The success of the INTERVET WB project reflects an unwavering commitment to empowering VET students and teachers. This project has made learning mobility a reality, enriching the lives of VET students and staff across the Western Balkans. Capacity building of the AFP was the next topic of the conference. It began with an overview of how VET goes beyond borders, highlighting its impact on employment opportunities in the Western Balkans. The presentation, led by EACEA, made it clear that VET is not just a local project; it has global connections. The representative from DG-EAC spoke about international activities in VET, emphasizing their impact on employability at the national level.

At the conference, discussions revolved around ensuring project sustainability, refining delivery strategies and maintaining quality standards. These conversations were a testament to the commitment of all parties involved.

For countries like Albania, the INTERVET WB project has opened doors to unparalleled opportunities for VET students and teachers. This pilot project, run by professionals in 14 countries, has turned dreams into reality.

We are deeply happy for the successful completion of this project and the opening of other opportunities for vocational education in Albania.

Below you will read an article prepared by the Office of the Delegation of the European Union Tirana based on the experience of the student of the Tirana Technical School of Economics, Ilaria Bogdani, who spoke about her experience during her mobility in Lyon, France and how this experience has influenced her .

Ilaria Bogdani was 18 years old when, thanks to a project supported by the EU, she would make her first trip outside Albania. “It was a golden opportunity for me to see the world and get my first work experience in Europe,” she enthuses.

Ilaria was a third-year student at Tirana Technical Vocational School of Economics when she heard about the INTERVET program and applied immediately. "It was the fourth and last call. I applied and won," says Ilaria, who was the winner at the top of the list. Ilaria's destiny was to go to Lyon to develop her practice at the professional training center SEPR, one of the oldest and largest in France.

“Our work consisted of building the SEPR School website. But first, we had to conduct research on similar VET school websites, analyze competitors, and create an Excel with all the data we collected. We then created content based on the best values of the SEPR school and its authenticity,” she says, adding that the knowledge she gained was invaluable in furthering her education.

This experience taught her much more: "I was most impressed by the work culture, communication, and motivation, elements that you cannot find in work practices in Albania". She also learned to live alone, to be more independent, and to adapt to the culture and traditions of the host country. "During our free time we visited new places like Bellecour, Sant Jean, Fourviere, Planetarium, Parc de la Te Dor, Traboule, Jardin du Rosaire, and Teatro Galo Roman," she added.

After returning, she has a more clear idea about her future. Returning from Lyon, she completed the fourth year of the AFP School in Tirana and applied to University. "I was accepted in Economic Informatics and now I am a student in Tirana." Next year I want to apply for the Erasmus program; It doesn't matter which EU country", says Ilaria. But I will come back. It is good to get the best education and experience in European countries and come back to build our country", she adds.

With this article by Ilaria, we close the articles about the INTERVET WB project, a project whose impact will remain long in everyone's memory. Endless gratitude to everyone involved in the project.

THE EXPERIENCE OF ITALIAN STUDENTS IN THE REALIZATION OF THE INTERNSHIP NEAR THE ALBANIAN COMPANIES.

On September 16, 2023 to October 17, 2023, Albanian Skills hosted the third group of Italian students who completed a 1-month internship with Albanian companies. The third group that came was composed of seven students and the group's companion. They were hosted by the Albanian Skills staff and accommodated near the Art Hostel. Specifically, the students completed their internships at the following companies:

Serena Rustici and Diego Capoferri completed their internship at Aladdin (Shop), where they were responsible for labeling, product pricing, and creating engaging Instagram stories and posts. Their experience at Aladdin allowed them to combine organizational skills with their creativity, resulting in fascinating social media content. They take pride in their contribution to the company.

Mateo Bicorgni completed the internship at Build Green Group Abania, where he was focused on creating pro-environmental social media posts. He has actively contributed to raising awareness of environmental issues through engaging and informative content. His experience at Build Green Group has allowed him to combine his passion for the environment with his creative skills, ultimately making a difference in spreading eco-friendly messages through social media.

Elidon Xholi and Othman Kirane completed their internship at Albanian Skills. During their internship the boys got to use their marketing and computer science skills. They had the opportunity to apply their expertise in promoting the organization and using technology to improve work. Othman and Elidon found satisfaction in using their respective talents to contribute to the success of Albanian Skills and their experience allowed them to further develop their skills in marketing and computer science.

Agnese Baccari worked at Junior Achievement of Albania and had valuable experience in organizing youth events. She contributed to the planning and execution of various events aimed at engaging and empowering young individuals. Her work at Junior Achievement helped her make a positive impact in the youth community and inspire other young people.

Lara Sofia worked as a receptionist at Hotel Colosseo Tirana and she really liked this job. Her role included welcoming guests, handling check-ins and check-outs and assisting them by answering any questions or requests they might have had. During her time as an intern, she was very happy in the position she had, as through work she interacted with people from different backgrounds and cultures. Working at Hotel Colosseo Tirana, Sofia has managed to develop her communication and problem-solving skills.

After the departure of the third group of students during the period from October 17, 2023 to November 18, 2023, we welcomed the fourth group of Italian students who would do a 1-month internship with Albanian companies.

This group was composed of six accompanied students and Marta, the companion of the group. Students completed their internships in the following companies:

- Elena Sofia Grossi and Alex D'angelo completed their 1-month internship at Destil Creative Hub.
- Chiara Lusha has performed the 1-month practice at Albanian Skills.
- Arianna Sestili completed her internship partly at Timak and partly at Albanian Skills.
- Angelica Musacchio completed the internship at Build Green Group Albania.
- Sebastiano Paci completed his internship at Timak.

Below you will be able to read an article prepared by Chiara and Arianna where you can learn more about the experience these students had during the 1-month internship in Albania.

Our adventure began at Ancona airport, where the whole group gathered: Alex, Sebastiano, Angelica, Arianna, Elena, Chiara and our group leader, Marta.

On our first day in Tirana, the host organization "Albanian Skills" introduced us to the country with a typical dinner and shared what awaited us in the following weeks. Thanks to Albanian Skills, we had the opportunity to explore two important cities of Albania. The first was Shkodra, rich with culture in every corner, with its castle offering a wonderful view of the landscape. The second was Kruja, where "Pazari" and its castle took us to another era.

During the weekends we also organized a trip to the city of Berat. Berat, located in the southern part of Albania, is known for its UNESCO-listed old town, characterized by white houses along the mountains and a castle. Durrës, on the Adriatic coast, boasts beaches, a seaport, and a historic Roman amphitheater, a must-see for any tourist.

Our work experience was very formative. Chiara felt comfortable working with the Albanian Skills team, engaging in research, meetings and activism projects. Arianna started in Timak's marketing department, creating and publishing videos. Sebastiano helped workers in the production of vehicles at Timak, and Angelica worked in communications and marketing at Build Green Group, a non-profit organization focused on environmental issues. Alex and Elena worked as waiters and bartenders at Destil Creative Hub, gaining valuable experience in language and customer interaction.

Living together in a hostel was a key aspect of our experience, fostering bonds and exposing us to people of different ethnicities and cultures. Many international companions enriched our cultural background, creating a unique mix of experiences and customs. Despite the initial challenges in following the rules, we learned to see each criterion as a "lesson of respect", contributing to our personal growth.

Throughout this Erasmus trip, we explored Albania, immersed ourselves in its culture, visited new places and learned about Albanian history through museum visits. Despite some challenges, the experience was enjoyable, fostering independence, collaboration and personal growth. The diverse Albanian cuisine, including favorites such as pancakes, pies and soufflés, added to our cultural richness and experience..

This study tour featured cultural activities related to the International White Truffle Fair, offering an overall view of the wealth of the region and also a city tour. TCN provided a first-hand look at the symbiotic relationship between VET and technology, enabling participants to understand more about this aspect. Highlighting the importance of soft and life skills in vocational education, preparing students for careers and beyond is always worthwhile, so it cannot be overlooked on this study tour. The final point of discussion was dual system structures and practices as effective methods to immerse students in real work environments.

Overall, this study visit to Alba, Italy, enriched the participants with innovative strategies and collaborative efforts in the internationalization of vocational education to bring improvements for all parties.

During the period November 28-December 2, 2023, SEPR in Lyon France was the host organization that organized the next study visit where representatives of Albanian Skills were: Arlinda Baçi and Dorina Islami. Arlinda and Dorina are both co-founders and board members of AlbanianSkills.

The agenda of the meeting included a presentation of the AFP System of France, acquaintance with the system and discussion about the system and comparison to the Albanian system; Work-based learning pedagogy, Introduction to the environment of innovative pedagogy, Continuous training, and cooperation with companies; Quality Management; Multimedia Library; International Department; Company visit and acquaintance with them; Feedback on the trainings conducted and the days spent at SEPR.
